Hollander to Hold Regional Customer Training Seminar in Atlanta

Southeast Regional Training Summit will feature enhanced one-on-one learning experiences with software experts

MINNEAPOLIS – January 27, 2015 – Hollander, LLC., a business unit of Solera Holdings, Inc. (NYSE: SLH) and the leading data-driven solution provider for the automotive recycling industry, will hold its first regional training seminar of 2015 in the Atlanta area on Saturday, March 14.

The Summit will combine presentations and hands-on learning experiences with Hollander experts in Powerlink[®], EDEN[®] and eLink[™]. The two presentation tracks will revolve around Inventory Workflow and System Administration and Management. Inventory Workflow will include tracks on managing and maintaining inventory, prepping inventory for sales and inventory tools. System Administration and Management will focus on basic bookkeeping management, an introduction to Powerlink Order Management and tracking sales performance, among other topics.

“We have listened carefully to our customers and determined regional training is the best way to serve customer needs,” said Chris Gilbert, director of service delivery at Hollander. “While past summits have focused on thought leadership, we’re tailoring this year’s events to concentrate on customer needs and training. The summit will provide an enhanced training experience through one-on-one availability and access to a portion of every Hollander team.”

Software demonstrations and account management assistance will be provided by Hollander support associates and sales representatives in the Technology Test Drive Center. In addition to the presentation tracks, the Southeast Regional Training Summit will also provide networking opportunities with fellow recyclers.

Hollander will look to host more regional training for its customers throughout the year in different segments of the country. Those interested in more information, or to register, can visit Hollandersolutions.com and head to the Events tab.
