Hollander's Regional Training Summit Series Continues in Philadelphia

Hollander to educate Powerlink users in order to increase yard efficiency and profitability

MINNEAPOLIS – April 27, 2015 - Hollander, LLC., a business unit of Solera Holdings, Inc. (NYSE: SLH) and the leading provider of software and data solutions for the automotive recycling industry, will host its second Regional Training Summit at the Ace Conference Center in Philadelphia on June 27th. The Summit will aim to increase yard efficiency and profitability with eight educational sessions across two informative learning tracks – Inventory and System Management.

Hollander's Regional Training Summit series is a fit for users of every skill level. The sessions will help to sharpen expertise with Hollander products, particularly learning best practices for setting up and managing business operations, stores and employees in the Powerlink yard management system. Inventory-focused educational sessions help users break down the functions of Powerlink inventory workflows, including best practices for dismantling vehicles, keeping inventory updated and preparing inventory for multiple sales channels. Hollander service experts spend a day refreshing system users on basic program concepts and show attendees useful strategies and tips within the program to effectively track business performance using Powerlink reporting tools. Advanced users will receive more specialized training in functionalities that assist in managing their entire operation. Members of the Hollander sales team, tech support and eBay are also on hand to answer business-specific questions and inquiries raised during the event.

"The amount of attendees at our inaugural summit in Atlanta blew us away," said Anders Moeller, managing director of Hollander. "Attendee feedback shows that this type of detailed and personal training is something our customers find extremely valuable. We are excited to continue offering training in different regions of the country to not only help our customers work more efficiently with our software, but to make sure they're getting the face-time with customer service they deserve. We very much look forward to collaborating with recyclers in Philadelphia."

The Philadelphia event will look to build on the success of the first training seminar, which hosted 70 recyclers in the Atlanta area mid-March. Hollander's next stop at the Ace Conference Center in Philadelphia will engage customers in the Northeast United States and Southeast Canada. Focus and content will remain consistent with the Atlanta event, based on an overwhelmingly positive response to training from recyclers that attended.
